2 Reason for discontinuation

The affected products are based on software releases that have since been superseded by newer versions. To guarantee that all products are delivered with up-to-date software, specifically incorporating compliance with the European RED delegated act (aka "RED cyber"), these ODIN-W2 product versions will soon be discontinued.

3 Customer impact and recommended action

- Successor products are pin-to-pin compatible with their predecessors, which means that they can be easily integrated into existing application designs.
- As successor products carry the same regulatory certifications as their predecessors, no additional testing or qualification is required.
- Customers are advised to carefully study the relevant software release notes [1][2][3][4][5][6][7][8] and evaluate the new software, downloadable from www.u-blox.com

An end-of-life product can be upgraded with the firmware of a successor product.
